Fallout 4 is a common discussion of the zgt: the topic of the details of the plugin file never saves. Stuck on reading only? Trying to install a mod (my first), but it seems like I hit the wall on the last step. I edited my ini files, downloaded plug-in files, and moved the relevant files to the data folder. Run on and off the launcher to see if they will appear in the plug-in notepad under the user /appdata/ etc... folder, but nothing happens. I tried typing it manually, but the text file always comes back to its original state. Right clicked and saw the read was only included, so I un-check it, but the same continues to happen. I can't save this file. All the parent folders only to read are checked on them too, but when I try to turn it off it just turns on (each one, right down to the USERS folder). I'm sure this is what prevents me from adding plugins to the plugin.txt file. Been on Google for a while, but I figured I'd ask here too at the same time to see if anyone knew anything from the top of the head. TIA for any help, fingers crossed. EDIT: I just noticed that it will actually save, but comes back every time I use FO4launcher Weird. The files that I got do fill the DLC txt file though, I don't know what I'm doing wrong... Sat Dec 19, 2015 11:06am I get a message at the launch of the Nexus Mod Manager that plugins.txt reads only and cannot be managed by The Nexus Mod Manager. I have no idea what that means. But lately my game has been going through very short (1-2 seconds) FPS drops. And huge drops, sometimes as low as 19-20 FPS, from 60. Again, it only lasts a second or two, but it gets pretty annoying. Soraya Davy Posts: 3777Joined: Sat Aug 05, 2006 10:53pm Sat Dec 19, 2015 9:07am RIGHT! So you'll have to head over to your C: Users\whateveryouraccountname\AppData\Local\Fallout4 and you'll have to click right on plugins.txt file, and in the last section titled attributes you want to stop the button just to read. Apply the changes and close the property bar then. Also, if you don't see the AppData folder (it's hidden by default), you'll need to change the view settings; to see hidden folders. willow Posts: 3414Joined: Wed Jul 26, 2006 9:43 p.m. Sat Dec 19, 2015 10:09am I can't find the file/folder you're talking about. When I go to users there is nothing out there that takes me to the Fallout 4 folder. Rob Smith Posts: 3424Joined: Sat Oct 03, 2007 5:30 p.m. Sat Dec 19, 2015 1:01pm Only properties. Opportunities: Allows you to sell slaves in the mines of Skyrim, for this you need to go through an introductory quest in Jarl Morfal, Dunstar or Falkrith, two other quests are available, but only after you become Jarl of any of the possessions mentioned above. It also allows you to install slave cages in your homes in Skyrim. To do this, buy markers from Pardo in the Restless Hunter, south of Ivarstead, and there will be an auction of slaves. Now, having created a slave camp, you can entrust their guard to either a companion or a devoted slave, but keep in mind that the companion may be bored with this case and he will leave (before that there will be a notification). The temporary camp allows for 3 slaves, two permanent up to 4 slaves each, and cages in the interiors (cave, fort, house) - up to 3, or 6 after renewal. The auction is available after the quest has been completed or the menu is immediately completed. Training: Some slaves may teach others when they reach the appropriate level of submission (u003e 70). Difficulties: In some rare cases, domestic slaves may cease to react. They will say a specific line of text when clicked, but the dialogue will not appear. If that happens: check out the list of Slaves Home Sweet Home on the MCM menu. If the name of the slave is empty (only their submission can be seen), then leave the house. Hopefully the name will be dropped on Nippy and the slave has to work again. During the slave auction, slaves can get stuck in their cages and/or at the auction block. Fix: try to wait an hour, hit the slave. If all else fails, go to Pardo and say you need to leave and then leave the hotel. The quest phase will end and you will have the opportunity Pardo and collect your money. When you wait for Melina to visit Laughing Rat, keep in mind that she should be in Laughing Rat at noon, so she will leave the palace a little earlier. In addition, the quest phase will fail if you wait (T) in melina's palace (you can repeat the scene). Wait for her at the palace. During the search for justice, Merian attacks Sun. If she hasn't found you, wait a day or so outside the major cities (not indoors) and she'll find you. She must be out of battle after the attack, in order to talk to her and move on with the quest. By hitting her, you will make her surrender and stop the fight. If other NPCs attack it, it may take several attempts. Features: Allows the sale of slaves to the inhabitants of Skyrim (citizens, shopkeepers, taverns, farmers or miners), after the sale slaves will be next to the owner (farm, in the tavern). You can sell slaves from Paradise Halls or The Sweet House house for most of Skyrim's population. Dialogue on the sale of various specialties to the NPCF, with the exception of some NPCF. Shopkeepers won't buy unprepared - Home sandbox: slaves follow their masters and lie when the master sleeps; workers will isolate sandbox around the shop/farm, and prostitutes will serve customers in taverns. The owners will tell you how happy they are with their slaves. They will also allow you to redeem them back, the price depends on how well the slave works for them. - MCM menu with options, information and progress - the slave trade will gradually penetrate the cities of Skyrim. On a certain level, it can trigger events in these cities and unlock some things you can do with your slaves (supports Beyond Skyrim: Bruma and Helgen Reborn) - Selling slaves will give you the experience of slave points and opens up certain bonuses - slaves are sold as prostitutes in taverns have dialogue and better behavior (find beds, etc.), and the player can also pay for sex with them - slave trader: allows you to buy slaves from the owners - Hardler's glove: you can make your PAHE slaves make money with sex: NPCs are suitable for them, or you can turn to NPCs with this offer (in taverns or cities where slavery is widespread) - Perk prostitutes: you can leave your slaves PAHE in taverns, or you can leave your slaves in the taverns. , unattended tricks - Perk Madame: Open your brothel in your house - When selling slaves at auction in HSH, slaves can appear again later in a gang camp or for sale in the city - Owners who are dissatisfied with their slaves sometimes punish their whip, with a needle or shackles, tie them to a tree or to a pole (in cities where slavery is widespread) - Support interactive BDSM: allow passers-by - Adjustable speed of appearance for male and female subordinates - After the Civil War, famous characters of the losers may appear as slaves. - Owners have the ability to punish slaves in static devices located throughout the city (instead of creating them as needed) - Patrons of your brothel are chosen based on the sex of courtesans and individual sexual preferences - Small towns such as Morfal will accept slavery a little faster. Hamlets like Ronkstead even faster - you can check the owner's slave tags to find out who owns them (only works for new slaves) - added places for prostitutes in towns and villages.
